Cut 5 Safety Gloves made from recycled PET plastic

When work involves cutting and sharp objects, you can't go past a good pair of cut resistant safety gloves. Advancements in technology and materials have helped safety gloves evolve to provide even greater protection against cuts, abrasions and impacts. What's more they can achieve all this whilst maintaining feel and comfort.

You might be surprised to learn that our top-selling cut resistant safety gloves are made from recycled materials. Our cut level 5 Razorshield and Toledoshield safety gloves are made from recycled high performance polyethylene (HPPE) yarn. This yarn can be woven into material that offers high resistance to cuts and abrasions. And now for the interesting part - the HPPE in our Razorshield and Toledoshield gloves are made using recycled PET bottles!

The equivalent of one 600ml bottle goes into each pair of large gloves, equating 120 bottles for every carton.

So the next time you enjoy a beverage from a PET bottle, know that one day you could end up wearing it!
